List & Label 15: New Language Kits

New Designer Language Kits for Development Component List & Label 15 13 Languages for International Projects

Constance/Germany, 02/04/2010 – Software house combit now offers 13 Designer language kits for international projects with development component List & Label 15. Eight more languages have been added to the so far available five, among others Danish and simplified Chinese. For customers with the Subscription Edition Enterprise all language kits are inclusive.

“Many of our customers develop applications for the international market”, explains List & Label project manager Jochen Bartlau, “with our language kits for the List & Label Designer and Unicode support their applications are more competitive.” And he continues: “Customers with the Subscription Edition Enterprise already have a clear advantage. All language kits are inclusive for them.” Customers with the Professional Edition get a 15% discount on all language kits. Together with the Unicode support which enables design and output incl. export for example under Asian operating systems, List & Label provides the equipment for international projects.
